

CAMBRIDGE

peoplehomesfashionfoodculture

magazine

Compiled by Christina Maurice

Cambridge Open Studios will be running during the first four weekends in July.

Weekend 1: July 1, 2;
Weekend 2: July 8, 9;
Weekend 3: July 15, 16;
Weekend 4: July 22, 23.

Visit camopenstudios.co.uk for the details of all the artists taking part.

Artist: Chris Wood

Medium: Light.

Using a range of optical materials to harness patterns of light, these sculptures create kinetic effects in response to the environments in which they are placed, producing beautiful results. Having made several high-profile installations and window displays, Chris' stunning light sculptures are definitely worth a visit to her studio.

Where and when:

Chris' studio will be open on Weekend 1, at 12 Annesdale, Ely CB7 4BN. For more information about Chris' work visit chriswoodlight.co.uk.

Artist: John McGill

Medium: Sculpture.

Fascinated with transformation, John uses a variety of organic materials to bring together myth, motif and metaphor to explore and express powerful themes through his sculptures.

Where and when:

John's studio will be open on Weekends 3 & 4 at The Berem, Comberton Road, Toft CB23 2RY. Visit johnmcgillsculptor.co.uk

Artist: Kate Green

Medium: Abstract paintings and contemporary crochet.

Kate is a self-described 'song painter' with her paintings mirroring the abstraction of dance and music. As a means of communication without words, they are visceral utterances of shape and hue. Kate's contemporary crochet creations make beautiful gifts and accessories.

Where and when:

Visit Kate's studio on Weekend 1 at 65 Akeman Street, Cambridge CB4 3HE or visit flourishandfly.co.uk.

For more information about the featured events visit SeenInPrint.com